Storydancing is a very old tradition of India. We know it by the different names – the classical Kathak (etymology of "Kathak" – "katha" (narrative) or the folk Kathiyani (origin of Manipuri) later traditionally from the Indian state of Chhattisgarh).

Zuleikha, a performer from America, presented her take on storydancing. She either danced sort of Kathak-fusion to songs / music or narrated simple stories herself and danced along.

She said that the goal was to achieve peace, inside and outside, through free uninhibited movements. Her costumes were colorful and pretty and the production was impressive and pleasant.

This was a statement to all those who demand definitions for everything ("story dancer" – what?)

The Verdict

7.8

GOOD

THE GOOD: Costumes | Simple and uninhibited dance movements | Great music | July Goose story was very cute | Zuleikha's expression for a girl obsessed with her good looks were great | The Whirling Dervish dance track was nice

THE BAD: Some of the Dance performances were just dance without a definite story
